After 11 months in the US, and 30 hours traveling home, we have finally made it back to Panguipulli, Chile!

The Lord has blessed us tremendously during our time in the US. The most important of these blessings to us was that Sandra's health returned. Also, it was wonderful to see long-time friends, and those whom we were able to meet for the very first time. We feel that the relationships that we had with our supporting churches has been strengthened greatly. Thank you so much for your prayers and support during this last year.

We were welcomed to our town by Luis Sáez, the pastor of the church that we founded 2 years ago. He and his wife had prepared a wonderful meal for us. Several of the church people stopped by while we were eating just so that we could see them. They made us feel very missed and loved.

One of the more exciting parts of this trip was that we were bringing a teacher for our children with us, Jessica Hammonds. Already she has been a great blessing to Sandra and I as she is helping us with the kids while we attempt to reestablish ourselves here.

Our plan is to live here in Panguipulli, attending the services of the church we started last term, while I begin scoping out a new area and doing the groundwork of soulwinning and discipleship in that area. We will be living here for at least several months, and will most likely continue in this area while commuting on the public buses to the new church plant, wherever that may be. We have been praying about a city called Villarica. Please pray with us that the Lord gives us wisdom for the decisions that we will have to make, and for the church in Panguipulli, that God would grow it to where it can support itself and it's pastor.
